

Dear members of the Future Diplomats Club,

It is our pleasure to welcome you to Romania's First National FDC Session.

As of today, you have embarked on a journey that will definitely change your lives. You are one of the most ambitious and brightest minds of our country that for six days in our capital, Bucharest, will spend their time debating and creating treaties.

Although having different personalities and backgrounds, at FDC you will find some of your new best friends, people that have the same passions as yours and that are up to challenge themselves.

As this is our first national session, we are looking forward to make it a competitive one in which you are going to try to find the best solutions to some of the problems that our world is currently facing.

For the past years, we tried to create the best team to take care of you and guide you throughout the whole session. We have prepared a lot of interesting issues for your countries and we hope that you will have fun delegations meeting hours in which you are going to combine both work and pleasure.

Taking this in consideration, we wish you an extraordinary time in this session and amazing memories!
